

OTTAWA CONFERENCE ON SECURITY AND DEFENCE

MARCH 7-8, 2024

NATALIYA BUGAYOVA

Non-Resident Russia Fellow
Institute for the Study of War

Nataliya Bugayova is a non-resident fellow at the Institute for the Study of War (ISW), focusing on open-source intelligence analysis of the Kremlin's military and information operations. Nataliya previously led ISW's Russia research team where she helped build the analytical framework that continues to serve as the foundation for ISW's reporting on Russia.

Nataliya is the author of "How We Got Here with Russia: The Kremlin's Worldview" and "Putin's Offset: The Kremlin's Geopolitical Adaptations Since 2014." She has been a trusted voice on Russia's war on Ukraine and on the Kremlin's campaigns globally. Her insights have been featured in CNN, BBC, NPR, PBS NewsHour, NBC News, Foreign Policy, Fox News, The Hill, Voice of America, and other media outlets.

Nataliya serves as the Director of Strategic Intelligence at Vertical Knowledge, a US data and technology company.

Prior to ISW, she worked in Ukraine in the aftermath of the pro-democracy Euromaidan Revolution. Nataliya was the Chief Executive Officer of the Kyiv Post, Ukraine's English-language publication, in 2014-2015. She served as adviser to former Ukrainian Economy Minister Pavlo Sheremeta, appointed after the revolution.

Nataliya holds a master's in public policy from Harvard University's Kennedy School.
