Principal Wargaming Analyst

Defence Science and Technology Laboratory (Dstl)

Rikki Parsons is a Principal Wargaming Analyst, leading efforts to provide strategic decision support at Dstl. He had a previous career at a major defence contractor where he led corporate strategy efforts within the training and education business there. In his current role, Rikki has led the design and execution of table-top exercises and wargames, alongside long-term methodological improvement research. He has published two 'boxed up' wargames since joining Dstl and hopes to get the opportunity to do more.
