Consultant

BwConsulting

Marie Sophie Mayer is a Consultant at BwConsulting, the In-house Consultancy of the German Armed Forces, where she advises the German Federal Ministry of Defence on strategic transformation projects. As political scientist specialized in the climate-security nexus, she brings international experience from the United Nations, European Commission, and Munich Security Conference. She holds a Research Master's from Maastricht University and a Bachelor's degree from Ludwig Maximilian University of Munich. Her research interest focuses on climate security and its relevance for human security as well as defense policy, with work published in European Security.

Nowadays, she applies her expertise to strategic defense transformation, supporting the Bundeswehr in navigating organizational and capability-related change as well as strengthening its capacity to respond to emerging challenges.
