DR. PHILIP JONES
Program Manager
Toronto Centre

Philip Jones is a Program Manager at Toronto Centre, where he leads initiatives that strengthen financial-sector regulation, capital-market development, and institutional capacity in emerging and frontier markets. His work focuses on coordinating complex multi-stakeholder programs, advancing regulatory engagement, and designing development interventions that reinforce financial stability, market integrity, and economic security.

Philip previously served at Global Affairs Canada, working at the intersection of economic security, critical minerals, strategic infrastructure, and international economic corridor development. Through the G7 Partnership for Global Infrastructure and Investment, he contributed to Canada's engagement across Africa, Latin America, and the Indo-Pacific, analyzing how governance systems, regulatory institutions, and geopolitical competition shape investment environments and long-term strategic outcomes.

He holds a PhD from Carleton University's Norman Paterson School of International Affairs, where his research examined institutional economics, property rights, organised criminal governance, and violence. His work received funding from the International Development Research Centre (IDRC) and Mitacs-CALAREO and included visiting researcher appointments in Brazil at PUC-Rio and the Federal University of Rondônia. Philip has also served as a Don Lavoie Fellow in Economics at the Mercatus Center and holds an MSc from the London School of Economics and a BA from St. Francis Xavier University. He is currently completing an MBA at the University of Ottawa's Telfer School of Management.
