

The Fellowship Programme

JASON C. MOYER

Program Director for Foreign & Security Policy

Heinrich Böll Foundation

Jason C. Moyer is the Program Director for Foreign & Security Policy at the Heinrich Böll Foundation in Washington, DC. He is also a Nonresident Fellow with the Atlantic Council's Transatlantic Security Initiative. He teaches a course on the Nordic and Baltic regions for the National Foreign Affairs Training Center, the training institution for diplomats and US government officials. He is also a Fellow with the Conference of Defence Associations Institute (CDA Institute) in Ottawa, Fellow with the North American and Arctic Defence and Security Network (NAADSN) and an Associated Researcher with the Latvian Institute of International Affairs.

Jason has written more than 50 articles on contemporary transatlantic relations. His current research focuses on NATO's northeastern flank, the European Union as a geopolitical actor, Arctic geopolitics, the future of the OSCE, and Baltic Sea security. He previously worked at The Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars and at Johns Hopkins SAIS in the Dean's research institute.

Jason holds a Master of Arts in European Studies from Georgetown University's School of Foreign Service. During his time at Georgetown, he was a teaching assistant to former Secretary of State Madeleine Albright. Jason speaks French and Italian, as well as some German. He is based in the Washington, DC area.

