XAVIER DELGADO

J.D. Candidate

Columbia Law School

Xavier Delgado is a Canadian-born J.D. candidate at Columbia Law School, where he serves as a Staff Editor for the American Review of International Arbitration and is a member of the Society of International Law and the National Security Law Society.

Before Columbia, Mr. Delgado was Senior Program Associate at the Wilson Center's Canada Institute, where he served as Research Director for the Washington Forum on the Canadian Economy and staff lead for the Canada-U.S. Legal Issues Symposium. His commentary on Canada-U.S. relations, Canada's Indo-Pacific strategy, and North American geopolitics has appeared in major media outlets, including The Globe and Mail, CBC, CNN, BBC, and NPR. He is also a member of the Oxford Analytica contributor network.

Mr. Delgado graduated from Georgetown University's Walsh School of Foreign Service with a B.S. in Foreign Service, majoring in International Politics and earning a Certificate in International Business Diplomacy. He also holds a Certificate in International Economics from the Johns Hopkins University School of Advanced International Studies (SAIS).
